BRITTON'S DEFENSE.

GROUNDS FOR SHIELDING CRIMINALS. MARP PASSAGES BETWEEN COUNSEL AND THE DIS-TRICT-ATTORNEY-A REBUKE PROM THE COMMIS-SHONER - THE THIRD SUPPLEMENTAL CHARGE NEXT IN ORDER.

The session in the Britton investigation, yesternay. as the most exciting one that has yet been held. Mr. Britten and his counsel lost no opportunity personally to assail Messrs. Morris and Davis, the counsel for the Committee of Fifty. The direct examination of Mr. Britton regarding the second, the election fraud charge, was finished on Thursday afternoon, and yesterday Mr. Morris cross-examined him. In putting questions to Mr. Britton, Mr. Mofris was studiously courteous, but invariably received a gruff reply. During the redirect examination Mr. Britton received a stinging reproof from Judge Speir for making improper and uncalled-for reflections on the character of one of the gentlemen appearing for the Committee of Fifty. E. M. Cullen, Assistant District-Attorney, corroborated Mr. Britton so far as he knew. Several members of the Prosecuting Com mittee of the Committee of One Hundred testified that they believed that convictions could have been had in a majority of the cases if Mr. Britton had prosecuted them at the first of his term.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

At the beginning of the day's proceedings, Mr. Morris entered upon the cross-examination of Mr. Britten regarding the second charge, which is that he willfully neglected to prosecute persons guilty of violatwillfully neglected to presecute persons guilty of violating the election law.

Mr. Britton testified: Yesterday, when I said that I only prosecuted persons when I thought the evidence was sufficient, I meant to add, when the persons could be found; prior to the meeting at the Academy, myself and Mr. Culien examined in part into the examination of the Nevins case. The examination, I think, was in February, but am not also to fix the date; what I stated at the Academy of Music was based on my own examination, and not anything furnished by Mr. Goodrich and Mr. Davis: I remember that Col. Davis said on that occasion that if I had done my duty the Penitenthary would have received more who were its due; it was in a public meeting, and I did not care to dispute with him there; in the Dunne case I examined the testimony taken in the City Court, and found that he had nothing to do with the poll-list antil after it was completed: I could find no further evidence—none that would convict; I knew that there were 500 fictitious names on the poll-list.

Q. You sent for no parties that had attended that election!

A. They were all examined in the case; I supposed that my predocessor would have given me that infernation.

Mr. Morris—Did you not hear my remarks to the jary in that case! ing the election law.

Mr. Morris-Ind you not hear my remarks to the jury

In that case?

Mr. Britton-Unfortunately I lost the benefit of that

Mr. Britton Chartenancy 7 lost the beacht of the speech.

Mr. Morris—Yes; I am sorry,
Mr. Callen grew exceedingly red in the face, and said blusteringly and footly to Mr. Morris: "It is your business to cross-examine and not to make comments." Mr. Tracy was heard to mutter something to himself about "personal emitty and unfairness."

Mr. Cadwallader—No questions which we consider un-

Mr. Cadwallader—No questions which we consider unfair or improper have been or will be asked.
Mr. Morris—I am sure that I have not asked anything which is unjust, and certainty I do not propose to do so.
Mr. Speir—Well, well, let us go on.
Mr. Eritton—I don't remember calling upon the police to serve subpenas or beach warrants; these were served by some of the deputy sheriffs detailed to duty in my office; I do not remember stating to the reporter of a Broostyn newspaper that the reason why McKenna was not treed was because he had the small-pox.

Recorded nowspaper that the reason why McKenna was not trued was because he had the small-pox.

Mr. Morris—That small-pox excuse was a very good one; but he was not to be found prior to January, 1872.

Mr. Morris—That small-pox (Laughter.)

Mr. Morris—I have no doubt but that some of Mr. Triacy's ellents would rather have the small-pox than have me after them. (Cries of "good." and laughter.)

Mr. Britton—I do no recollect that it was brought out in the trial at the City Court that Dunne and Keenan went to McKerna, who kept a little paper siere, and solicited to McKenna, who kept a little paper store, and solicited ham to act as poli-cierk, which he refused, on the ground that he could not attend to his duties until the after-if had appeared that Danne wrote the polishst it would have been a case to prosecute.

Q. Suppose that it did not appear that he wrote the polish, does it not appear that he acted as poll clerk there? A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Dad it not appear on the trial, by the testimony of McKeana, that Danne and Keenan went to him and soletted him to act as poll-left till the afternoon, and that Danne was present at the polls and misisted upon signing the polisis, because he had nominally been appearing the polisis, because he had nominally been appeared to the first trial, to my recollection.

Q. If these noise had been shown would you say that

Not on the first triat, to my recollection.

Q. If these accis hat been shown would you say that was a case to prosecute? A. I would say that if the list had been made by Dunne it would be a case to prosecute.

Q. Was is not shown that the pell-list was so written by simil A. It was shown he wrote in a portion of this list, but which portion did not appear.
Q. Did it not appear that Danie was present at the time! A. I do not recollect that.
Q. Did it of the list of the l these facts appear on the first trial 1 A. for anising a tonic volent verbal assault apon and asine improper latingage concerning one of the counsel for the Committee of Pifty.

Mr. Briston when indicated that he desired to avoid bringing these cases to trial; we made a careful examination of the Danne case.

To Mr. Cadwalader—the first I heard of the election frauds was in February, 18th we had the affidavits and the papers in all the cases; we didn't try the case of Campbell and Danne because we didn't try the case of Tambell and Danne because we didn't try the case of Tambell and Danne beause we had the 't respect to the witnesses, who shood both up to 500 on the pell list; know that tCampbell was in the Surrogate's office, but pever knew alterman Danne; I have never read the festimony in the different election fraud cases; I never examined any of the testimony acainst Dunne; the reason why Campbell was not tried was, first, that he had the small pox; secondly, that his name was not in Goodric's complaint; thirdly, that several persons had been convicted for the same offense; as a matter of fact no election case was tried except that of Nevius, and he was Indicated for assault and battery.

Lev! B. Faron, chief clerk in the District-Attorney's office, testified; The statement of Mr. Britton, so far as I know, is correct; I have the general charge of procuring the arrest of olanders; warrants were issued for the streat of the various persons, as Mr. Britton has stated.

To Mr. Cadwallader—Alderman Danne is frequently in Mr. Britton's office, and Campbell has been in the habit of calling occasionally since 1872.

John R. Kennedy testified; I am a member of the

Mr. Britten's office, and Campbell has been in the habit of calling occasionally since 1872.

John R. Kennedy loss field; I am a member of the Committee of One Hundred; I was one of the sub-committee of that organization appeinted to fuvestigate why the election cases were not prosecuted; I was one of those who conterred with Mr. Britton on the subject; I heard his evidence, and connecte with him as to what occurred at our interview; we took up and investigated these cases, of which one of our number had a last; the result of the investigation was embedded in a report and submitted to the Committee of One Hundred.

To Mr. Cadwainder-I really am not competent to say what testimony was presented in any of these cases at the investigation; it occurred some time arc, and the facts have escaped my memory; we simply examined what was submitted to us by Mr. Britten; the testimony in all the cases seemed to us mufficient.

A. J. Perry, who was a member of the Committee to

A. J. Perry, who was a member of the Committee to which Mr. Kennedy belonged, corroborated the last witness in everything, aid added that the Committee of Beventy-five was organized to ferret out and bring to justice persons guity of violating the election law in 1871. This Committee subsequently received additions in members and was improved, when it was rechristened the Committee of One Hundred.

Mr. Morris-Mr. Tracy, I believe you left the Committoe when it became known as the One Handred; in that, suppose, the improvement consisted. Ludovick Benuett, also a member of the sub-commit tee of the Committee of One Hundred, corroborated the last two witnesses. He said, further, on the cross-exmmination:

The report which we made to the One Hundred was decidedly unfavorable to Mr. Britton; I believed that Mr. Britton did not prosecute those cases as he should have done; the opinion I then held has not been wholly changed from that time to this; I believe that when he first came into office many of the cases might have been tried successfully; I think the delay killed those cases. I have openly expressed the opinion that these cases might have been prosecuted with a strong probability of conviction early in 1872.

Cot. Robert Johnson testified : I was a member of the Committee above referred to, and believe that the genen who have preceded me have given a correct statement of what occurred during the investigation of the election cases; I agree with Mr. Bennett that convictions could probably have been obtained on many of the cases if they had been brought to trial early in Levi B. Faron testified that all the papers in the District-Attorney's office were submitted to the sub-com-mittee of the Committee of One Hundred. The investigation will go on at 12 o'clock to-day, when the third supplemental charge will be taken up.

LIABILITY OF COMMON CARRIERS.

In 1865 Messrs. Gusterman Bros. of this city had is cases of woolen goods shipped on the steamer City of Baltimore, belonging to the Liverpool, New-York, and Philadelphia Steamship Company, then lying in the Morsey. While the steamer was coaling a storm arose, the steamer dragged her anchor, the coal barge stove in in damaging the goods. Buit was brought in the Court of Common Please before Chief-Justice Daly, for $20,000. The defence was non-liability for lesses arising from such causes. After three days' hearing of the case, the jury yesterday rendered a verdict for the plaintiff in $18.179 19 and 18 per cent allowance. Messrs. Marvin & Smith were counsel for the plaintiffs, and Messrs. Buckley & Vanderpoel for the defendants.

THE COURTS.

THE BRODERICK MURDER TRIAL.

ERDICT OF MANSLAUGHTER IN THE FOURTH DEGREE. The trial of Michael C. Broderick for causing the death of his son James, in Carmine-st., last August, was closed yesterday. The most important testimony for the defense was that of the prisoner himself. From his own story, delivered in the tone and with the expression of a man belonging to the lower class of society, it appears that the remote cause of the tragedy was the absence of a button from his clothes. His own growling" met with still londer and barsher talk from his wife and mother-in-law. The old woman, as he exparing to sew on the missing button his son John came in, sat down at the table, and catching a knife in his hand asked what the trouble was about. The father ordered him to mind his own business and leave The son retorted contemptuously, and the father rushed into the bedroom, seized a bed-slat, and coming out, struck at his son with it. All this time the father had a pen-knife in his hand which he had been using while his wife was sewing on the but he had been using while his wife was sewing on the button. His son, when rushing at him, had a knife in his hand (John swears he dropped it before touching his father), and as he came up bent his head like a buil and butted his father, seizing him at the same time between the shoulders and calling to his brother, "Now I have him! Let's putch him down stairs!" with an epithet too fithly for publication. James answered in the same vein, and approaching with a "billy," struck his father twice over the head with it. The latter then, while parily stunned and greatly excited, struck out with the knife, not knowing at the moment what he was doing. Other testimony was offered tending to show that Broderick was a careless, immless sort of a man, and it was also proved that a year before the homicide the two sons pursued their father into a liquor store, one with a sword and the other with a "billy." and that it was with great difficulty that the father was rescued from their violence. The prisoner's daughters and Coroner Young were called for the defense, and they proved that a few hours after the prisoner's arcest there were freshly made scratches on his breast and some evidences of injuries on his head.

Mr. Howe addressed the jury for the defense, and District-Attorney Pheips on summing inproved the presecution admitted that the degree of deliberation required to constitute murder in the first degree under the law of 1873 was not proved, but claimed a verdict of murder in the second degree. Judge Daniels then charged the jury. He commented on the insubordination and revolting relations between the members of the prisoner's family. He left it to the jury to determine whether the son, John, had a knife in his hand when he rushed at his father; whether the prisoner intended to fall his son James when stabbing him, and if so, whether the peril was so imminent as to justify the act, and how far the interest the prisoner had in exonerating himself was to bring into question the testimony in his own behalf. The jury retired ton. His son, when rushing at him, had a kuife in his in exonerating himself was to bring into question the testimeny in his own behalf. The jury retired at 14.

After a delay of several hours the attention of the 30 or 40 occupants of the court-room was attracted by a stight futter in the corridor, and the announcement was made that the jury were coming in. The prisoner, accompanied by his counsel and several members of his family, approached and took his seat before the Judge. The jury now advanced, the roll was called, each juror responded to his name, and the regular formula of interrogation was compiled with. The foreman of the jury announced that a verdiet had been reached, and that they found Michael C. Broderick guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree.

There was no excitement and little surprise in the court-room; the prisoner manifested no emotion, his counsel was heard to whisper, "I am satisfied," and one of the daughters of the prisoner burst into tears. The prisoner was asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed. He rose, with his counsel at his shoulder, and was about to speak, when the Judge, interrupting him, announced that scattened would be deferred until 10 o'clock this morning. Nothing further was said, and the crowd speediy dispersed. Mr. Howe announced that a term of two years was the extent of the punishment to which the prisoner was liable.

THE SENTENCE OF EDWARD LANGE. JUSTICE HUNT REFERS THE CASE TO THE DISTRICT

COURTS. At the last term of the United States Cirout Court, criminal side, Judge Benedict presiding. Edward Lange was found guilty of illegally converting mail bags to his own use, and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment and to pay a fine of $200. When the matter was subsequently brought to his notice Judge Benedict discovered that he could not legally sentence Lange to pay a fine and also to be imprisoned. The first sentence was, therefore, resemded, and Lange was resentenced to one year's imprisonment. His counsel, Mr. Arnoux, of the firm of Arnoux. Rich & Woodford, then applied to Justice Hunt of the Supreme Court of the United States for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Lange, on the ground that Judge Benedict had no right to rescand the first sentence and then pass a new one. The motion for the writ was argued before Justice Hunt, at Chambers, in Washington, on Wednesday. Mr. Arnoux appearing for the motion, and Assistant United States District-Attorney Pardy Spposing it. Justice Hunt sent, yesterday, to the United States Distriet-Attorney for this district his decision denving the motion, and in it he says:

I deny the motion upon the ground that the applica-tion should be made to a judge or a court in the City of New-York or the City of Brooklyn. There are three New Fork or the City of Brooklyn. There are three United States Judges in those cities competent to act in the matter, and no reason is assigned why the application is not made to one of them. Upon stating the case to several of my associates, they are unanimous in advising me that under such circumstances, it would be imprudent and indiscreet in me to issue a writ of habens corpus refurnable before me in the City of Washington, and to pass unon the questions presented by it. Grave questions arise upon the facts alleged, upon which I express no coinion. The learned gentlemen who occupy positions of Circuit Judge and District Judges in the Second Judicial Circuit, are abundantly qualified to deal with attent. They arise under their local jurisdiction, and should be brought before one of them for decision.

DOUBTFUL COURT JURISDICTION.

AN ACTION AGAINST AN ENGLISH CORPORATION. The suit of John Spencer Jones agt. The Ocean Steam Navigation Company, a corporation created under the laws of Great Britain, was begun in the Supreme Court of the State to recover damages for the breach of a contract alleged to have been made , by the defendant with the plaintiff, whereby the former agreed to transport the latter and certain portions of his property from Liverpool to New-York. The Company applied to the State Court for the removal of the suit to the United States Circuit Court. The petition was denied, and the Company entered in the latter Court copies of the proceedings in the suit, and asked leave to put in an answer to the complaint filed in the State Court, claiming that the suit was removed to the United States Cir enit Court by the entry therein of the papers referred to. The plaintiff objected to the jurisdiction of that Court. Everett P. Wheeler, counsel for the defendant, contended that the suit was removed by virtue of the provisions of section second of the act of July 27, 1868,

Any corporation or any member thereof, other than a Any corporation or any member thereof, other than a banking corporation, organized under a law of the United States, and against which a suit at law or in Equity has been commenced in any court other than a Circuit or District Court of the United States, for any hability or allowed hability of such corporation, or any member thereof, may have such suit removed from the court in which it may it be pending, to the proper Circuit or District Court of the United States upon filing a petition therefor, stating that they have a defense arising under or by virtue of the Constitution of the United States, or any treaty or law of the United States.

In the United States Circuit Court yesterday, in the ourse of his decision denying the defendant's petition, course of his decision denying the defendant's petition, Judge Blatchford said:

The point involved is a new one, and I am referred to no decision upon it. It is also an important one. If the construction given by the defendant to the statute is correct, it is not perceived why its provisions do not apply to corporations created by origin governments. After careful reflection, I am constrained to the conclusion that the view taken by the plaintiff is the more correct one, and that this suit is not one of which this court has or can have jurisdiction under the act of 1808, for the reason that the defendant's corporation is not a corporation organized under a law of the United States. I have less rejuctance in adopting this ylew, because if this Court is in error in refusing jurisdiction in this case, the defendant has a prompt remedy by an application to the Supreme Court of the United States for a mandamus to direct it to take jurisdiction of the case, and corpoced to adjudge it upon its merits. If, on the other hand, this Court should now take jurisdiction of this case, and compel the plaintiff, in ease of an adverse decision on the merits, to seek the judgment of the supreme Court on the question of jurisdiction, the amount claimed being over $7,000, he might thus obtain a favorable decision on that point only at the sud of a long and expensive litigation. Doubtful questions of jurisdiction should, if possible, he anthoritatively disposed of at the threshold of a controversy.

An order must be entered denying the defendant's motion, and stating that such denial proceeds solely on the ground that this Court has no jurisdiction of jurisdiction of the case, and complete the planting the defendant's motion, and stating that such denial proceeds solely on the ground that this Court has no jurisdiction of jurisdiction of the case and complete the planting the sole of particular of the case and complete the planting the sole of particular of the case and complete the case and complete the case and complete the case Judge Blatchford said :

HONOR TO JUDGE PECKHAM'S MEMORY. The General Term of the Superior Court has noticed officially the death of the Hon. Rufus W. Peckham, and entered on record the following order: ham, and entered on record the following order:

GENERAL TERM OF THE SUPERIOR COURT, Dec. 12, 1873.

Present, John M. Barbour, Ch. J., and Wm. E. Curta and Hooper C. Van Vorst, J. J.

The General Term of this Court has heard with painful surprise and profound regret of the sudden death of Rafus W. Pecknam, one of the Judges of the Court of Appeals. A proper appreciation of the character of the deceased as an upsight Judge, and a just respect for his rigid integrity and instinctive sense of what is just and equitable, for his great industry and distinguished learning and ability, renders it eminently proper that a minute be made of this sad event in the records of the Court as a testimony of its sense of the public loss, and it is, therefore, so ordered.

GAMBLERS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL. The proprietors of the gambling-houses and the persons engaged in gambling, who were arrested on Thursday night, were taken by the police before the Justices at the Police Courts yesterday. Before Justice ed, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, were brought Ira Jauree, proprietor of a gambling-house at No. 616 Broadway, Albert White and John Martin, employ és, and 40 persons who were found in the den. The magistrate committed Jauree for trial in default of $3,000 bail, and White and Martin in default of $2,000 bail. The gamblers were reprimanded and set free. At the Tombs Police Court, Justice Bixby committed Charles Ross and George W. Stevens, charged with keeping a gambling-house at No. 342 Broome-st.

The trial of William Doogan, accused of being one of the five river thieves who boarded the brig Mattano, Nov. 30, and, after overswing the Captain and erew succeeded in escaping with plunder worth $700, was begun yesterday in the Court of General Sessions The same testimony that two days before secured the conviction of William Carroll, one of the thieves, was re peated in regard to Doogan. The hearing of testimony for the defense was postponed until to-day. William F. Kintzing, Howe & Hummel, and Charles Oliver, appeared for the accused.

Albinola & Bailey obtained, yesterday, an attachment against the property in this city of G. B. Paoletti, a resident of the town of Campi, near Florence, Italy, to satisfy a debt of $2,036 34 upon an account stated.

The venue has been changed in the suit of Patrick McCormick agt. William H. Boyle from the Supreme Court, County of New-York, to the Special Term of the Supreme Court to be held in Cayuga County.

By reason of the writ of error granted by Judge Brady, on Thursday, in the case of Jacob Rosen-zweig, the chief clerk of the Court of General Sessions is preparing the papers specifying and detailing the "manifest error" which is said to have been made in the order to discharge Rosenzweig. In the City Court of Brooklyn, before Justice Neilson, yesterday, Charles Harman obtained a verdict in his favor on a suit he brought to recover a load of $430 from John B. and Thomas L. Johnson, keepers of a drugistore at Myrtle and Bedford aves, who recently failed with liabilities amounting to $5,370 37. The North American Neuchatel Rock Paving Company, a corporation organized under the laws of Great Britain and Ireland, and doing business at East Nineteenth-st., is being saed in the Supreme Court for debt, by Thomas J. O'Connor of No. 222 East Eighteenth-st., Little & Hunter of No. 315 East Twenty-lifth-st., and by Silas F. Sherwood severally. In the United States Circuit Court, yesterday, in the case of E. S. Jaffray and others agt. Thomas Murphy, as Collector of this port, in which action was brought to recover about $1,344 as an alleged excess of duty paid on imported lace, the jury disagreed, standing nine for the defendant and three for the plaintiff. As was stated in Thin Teliench's recent report of the case, the question was: Does the material of which an article is made, and the name given to it by the trade, determine what it is for the purpose of paying duties upon it? The hearing of testimony in regard to the will of Catherine S. Valentine was resumed yesterday in the Surrogate's Court. Mrs. Eliza Peck, a daughter of the Surrogate's Conft. Mrs. Edga Peck, a daugater of the deceased, testfied that she arrived at her mother's house about fifteen minutes before Mrs. Valentine died, and that her mother never recognized her or any one after that time. Similar testiment was given by Mrs. Sarah M. Valentine, Girardus Valentine, Miss Jennie Peck, and George A. Peck. The further hearing of tes-timony was adjourned until Wednesday, Dec. 17, at 10 a. 10. S. M. Thayer for the executor, Miles & Bagley for the contestants.

In the Marine Court, Part I., before Judge Curtis, yesterday, William H. Lewis, M. D., sued William J. Fish for payment of $500 for professional services, in attending the defendant's wife while she was suffering from small-pex. Mr. Fish claimed the services rendered were not worth as much as $500. Several physicians gave testimony in rezard to their opinion of the value of such services; but the testimony was of so contradictory a nature that no judgment could be formed in rezard to the matter in dispute. The jury gave a vertice for the plaintiff, reducing the amount claimed, however, only awarding him $500. Fullerton, Knox & Crosby for the plaintiff; T. C. Cronin for the defendant.

All who have real estate for sale or to let and those desiring to purchase or rent such property, will find it to their interest to advertise in THE TRIBUNE. Its aggregate circulation exceeds that of any other news paper, and in addition to this advantage, THE TRIBUNE will be found, not only in New-York and all its cities and villages, but in every State and Territory throughout the Union. The advertisement should be as brief as will allow of the advantages claimed, being made clear to the reader. We would especially dwell on the fact that the subscribers for the three editions of THE TRIBUNE, Daily, Semi-Weekly, and Weekly, comprise individuals in every business profession; consequently, advertisements in each are read by all classes. The Tribune devotes especial attention to reports of sales of real estate both in city and country, thus adding greatly to the value of its cotumns as an advertising medium. The charges for advertising are as follows; DAILY TRIBUNE, 30 cents per line for each insertion. WEEKLY TRIBUNE, $2 per line : SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, 25 cents per line. About ten words of our wide columns average a line. Terms, cash in advance.
